
GENERAL REVIEW AND ENFORCEMENT POLICIES

CENTER FOR VETERINARY MEDICINE'S LIST OF GUIDELINES AND OTHER AVAILABLE INFORMATION

Purpose:

This guide provides information on the current status of guidelines and certain other information available from the Center for Veterinary Medicine.

Status of Guidelines and Other Available Information:

The Center announced in the Federal Register (58 FR 17413-17416; April 2, 1993) that the current list of guidelines available from the Center was being updated. CVM has grouped the guidelines into four categories based on the current status of each guideline: Guidelines that have become obsolete and that are being removed from the list; guidelines that are still applicable but that are undergoing revision and once revised, will be made available in draft for public comment; recently developed draft guidelines and draft guidelines under development. A new section of "Other Available Information" contains a list of generic animal drug policy letters, "CVM's Policy and Procedures Manual Guides," various toxicology and environmental handbooks, and documents that are not guidelines, but are intended to aid in animal drug development.

Availability:

Information on availability of copies of guidelines may be obtained from the Center's Communications Staff, HFV-12.
